Job Description

When participants finish the climb, they will emerge from the stairwell on the 48th floor. At this time, they will step on a mat that will electronically record their time from the ankle-timing device. Your job will be to call out the climber number and to manually record each Climber's finish time on the sheets provided. Your job is EXTREMELY important, as the information you record is used to cross-reference with electronic record and serve as back up when the timing chip malfunctions.

Duties

- You will be responsible for either calling out the Climber's number as they approach the top stairwell or manually recording finish times.
- You will be working with a Sports Stat staff on the top floor. He will be responsible for ensuring that all Climbers swipe their timing chips.
- Climbers may come in clusters, so be extra attentive!
- Do not leave your posting at any time during the event (unless you have a replacement). The Climbers have work hard and having an accurate result means the world to them!
